

Lesson 18

2007

think the word.
work well.
we will take his word as truth.
lend a hand.
he needs it.

be bright, be good, but be sure to work well, too.
both girls should win a prize.
we shall push for high speed.
it is the right thing for us to do, so do it well.
our aim is to make the six men do this work right.

a man can get on if he works on and does not stop.
big men have a big faith.

you may say they have too much to do, but do they?
has he a goal? has he worked well?
do not stop. all should gain.

the learner tries quite hard to turn loose of the word but seems to freeze to it.
for a key to be worth while, it must be put to use.
but a key that unlocks just the door to the finest skill is that of quiet hand and arms.

what is your next move?
even when no one is looking, we will learn.
new things are coming.

we live in a wild fraternity of noise.
don't be too easily convinced.
every word is right.
how can you learn to listen?
it is just as simple as that.

why stay at a low level?
learn to turn loose of a word. be ready for the next word.
she may make the goal if she works with vigor.
do not separate.
